

Fantasy Football Playoff Rules

1	Each week we will only have starters, no backups.
2	Each owner will keep his players on bye until the second week where he can add them to his team
3	Each week the draft will be similar to our regular season draft. The owner with the fewest players will pick first. Once the player totals are the same we will pick in the reverse order of the current standings. If two owners have the same number of points and are picking in the same round, the lowest pick will be the owner who finished the season with the fewest number of points.
4	There are no restrictions on cutting players
5	Players on bye week do not count towards the first weeks draft order
6	For the last two games, teams are only allowed one RB and two WRs
